Want to learn how drugs work?

Check out

Pills, Potions, & Poisons

A science enrichment and career exploration program for high school students in the greater Columbus area

July 9-14, 2018

The Ohio State University College of Pharmacy

Pills, Potions, and Poisons is a week-long day camp designed for high school students interested in the biomedical sciences (including careers in pharmacy, medicine, laboratory research, etc.). Through hands-on experiments, field trips, and projects, this program allows students to discover the science behind drugs as we investigate questions such as:

• Can we find a “perfect” drug, and if so, what properties would it have?
• What are the similarities and differences between therapeutic drugs and illegal “street” drugs?
• How do we discover new drugs?
• What types of careers could I explore in the pharmaceutical sciences?

Interested?

Learn more or submit an application at: go.osu.edu/PPP

Application deadline: April 13, 2018